LOCAL FARMER BECOMES INVENTOR OF NEW THRESHING MACHINE

Inventor Claims It Will Effect a Saving of 70 Per Cent in Threshing Operations

Joseph C. Clare, a Claresholm farmer, has invented a machine which, if it proves all that he and his friends hope it will, may effect a considerable saving in harvesting. It is a combined motor harrow and thresher. On its own power it goes out into the field, and following the soil binder, gathers up the straw of grain and threshes and cleans it, it goes, effecting a saving of about 70 per cent on threshing operations, besides accomplishing the work in much less time than the old methods require. This is what Mr. Clare claims for it, and his claims are backed up by signed statements of a number of well known residents of Alberta who have seen the machine in operation.

A horse-drawn model, the parts of which were built in a number of factories and assembled in Claresholm last fall, was operated on Mr. Clare's farm, 12 miles out from here, last fall. According to the signed statements of all who witnessed it, the machine worked perfectly. Mr. Clare has been spending some time in Calgary in an effort to interest other farmers in his enterprise. He hopes to get sufficient money to build first a working model of the motor-driven machine, and after its practicability has been demonstrated, to interest capital in the establishment of a factory some suitable place in the West for the manufacture of his machine.

on the Atlantic. The new ship has six complete steel decks. In order to prevent water the hulls are subdivided by water-tight doors and bulk heads, so as to be capable of floating when three compartments are open to the sea. The water-tight bulk heads and doors automatically controlled from the bridge. The speed of each vessel is 14 knots in a draught of 27 1/2. As for the interior of the vessels, each cabin stateroom is fitted with a comfortable and elegant of drawers, folding lavatory with mirror, and other conveniences. The public rooms are dining saloon, smoking room, lounge and drawing room. The duplicate refrigerating plant is capable of making 200 lbs. of ice per eight hours. The vessels are heated and controlled on the turbine and oil engine system, changing oil eight times each hour. There is also a painting plant on board which vessel. They are fitted with all the modern appliances, and are the first steamers to have Radio and Wireless patent devices, which enable the boats to be launched from either side of the ship even when at a considerable list.

Edmonton Men Attached to British Territorial Forces

News has been received by the local military office of the appointment of two Edmonton men to commissions in the British territorial forces. They are Captain H. L. Goodland, who has been attached to the 4th service battalion, Royal Munster Fusiliers, with which the 10th of Edmonton is affiliated, and Lieutenant C. T. Baldwin, who has been attached to the 4th service battalion, London Regiment, with which the Winnipeg Grenadiers is affiliated. The conscription in Britain at the outbreak of hostilities.

Mr. Baldwin is a former employee of the Canadian Bank of Commerce here and the Claresholm people have taken much interest in him. He is now at 24100th, as the above article taken from an Edmonton paper is claiming.

Rex Theatre Changes Hands

The Rex Theatre, which was formerly owned by Joseph A. Munro, changed hands last week and is now managed by L. G. Shofield. The new management will try to give to the public the same high class service as was given by the former owners. The series of pictures "Lullaby Lane" which has been running every Monday and Tuesday night will continue to run until the series is completed. By special arrangement of the new management, this picture will be completed to please those who have seen the first part of the play.

Cafe Chantant in Parish Hall

A Cafe Chantant was held in the Parish Hall on Saturday in aid of the Patriotic funds. This is the first time the management of this kind has been given in Claresholm and the verdict was that it was very enjoyable. About a dozen dainty tea tables had been arranged to cover the hall and with an admission fee of 25 cents afternoon tea was served to the running accompaniment of music and songs. The ladies who had charge of the tables were Mesdames Mitchell, Tule, Stankes, James, Reinecke, Watt, Kingsley, Harvey and Reynolds, while Miss Anglin attended to the gramophone. The entertainment lasted at 4 p.m. and lasted until about 6 o'clock. The ladies who sang were Mrs. Steeves, Miss Hazel Strain, Miss Gusse-Gardner and Miss Eva Moffatt while J. B. Watt and Gerald Mack represented the men vocally. P. M. Ahl gave a very pretty violin solo. Not the least pleasant part of the entertainment were two recitations by Miss Marjorie Lewis, who extolled Klondike and pointed out the duty of a soldier in best verse, while Master Eric Lewis gave a humorous poem entitled "Don't". Miss Mabel Lewis, with W. S. Marjorie Lewis, accompanied the musical numbers. It is understood that close to $25.00 was netted for the Patriotic Fund.

with respect to land-prospecting homes should be that any patent has not as yet been issued. It thus enables a person to trace the progress during comparatively recent years of settlement in the Peace River District.

The aim in the preparation of the map has been to show the land situation up to September of the present year, and in view of the rapid exhaustion of free homesteads throughout the other Provinces, the information should prove of particular interest to prospective settlers.

In addition to the information with respect to lands which have been homesteaded and otherwise disposed of, the publication contains complete details of the railway routes, general topography of the country, etc.

Canadian Pacific Railways Fourth Vessel on the Clyde

The Metagana, sister ship to the Mississauga, was successfully launched recently and christened by Lady Bies, wife of Sir John Harvard Bies, L.L.D., designer for the British Admiralty of the yards of Barclay, Curle & Co. Glasgow. When the Metagana went down the ways she carried a record which bids fair to require a new record by any shipping company engaged in Canadian or American business. She is the first vessel launched by the Canadian Pacific on the Clyde this year. In the light of present conditions this is a glowing commentary on the substantial condition of her owners' enterprise.

The Metagana's sister ship, the Mississauga, reached Montreal recently on her second voyage out of Liverpool and went back again the same day the Metagana was launched. They are of the "super class" type, with passenger accommodation for 520 second and 1,200 third class. Each has a length of 520 feet and a beam of 40 feet, while the breadth of the passenger decks are 11 feet. Each vessel has a dead weight capacity of 7,500 tons, with an approximate cargo capacity of 60,000 tons. IN THE SUPREME COURT

Stevenson vs. Finlayson

An action for damages brought by Mrs. J. B. Finlayson, at first sitting in Michael. In the spring of 1913 the defendant sold the plaintiff a stallion for breeding purposes and warranted him fit for that purpose. Although the defendant brought a number of witnesses to support his case, the learned Judge decided that the warranty was not fulfilled, and the plaintiff was awarded damages for the plaintiff, H. O. Haslam, for the plaintiff, Knox, of Watakwini, for the defendant.

Canadian Bank of Commerce vs. Coleman and Amundson

This was an action brought upon a joint and several promissory note, in which was held that although a man may appear on the face of a note as maker, if in reality he has received no benefit from the note and the plaintiff has knowledge of this fact, the action is treated only as a loan, and is therefore subject to the action of discharge and demand for payment. The action was accordingly dismissed. H. O. Haslam for the plaintiff, Campbell, K. C. of Montreal, defendant.

Plants Trees of Canessa.

Not least among those which have been celebrated are two giant plane trees at Canessa, near Treviso, that "trees of the Adriatic." While these "trees of the Adriatic" are on an elevation above the tideless sea, lies the famous garden of Canessa. From a private landing place a path leads up between oaks and pines, and the trees are planted in the level road where the two colossal trees have stood from time immemorial. The effect of the larger tree is a spectacular standing beneath it is positively overwhelming. The "trees of the Adriatic" are so well as merely to walk closely round the trunk, while the spreading branch reach horizontally for from thirty to forty paces and then bend upward and fork. A good sized public meeting could be held in the shade of the trees, and the immense trees—Wide World Magazine.

When Cholera Invaded New York.
There was cholera in New York in 1830 and again in 1852. The disease reached the city in June of the latter year and raged until the last of October, causing 3,215 deaths. In 1849 the cholera appeared again, beginning at the "Five Points" and spreading rapidly. The public school buildings were turned into hospitals. The total mortality for the year was about 5,000—New York American.

Cliffs of Dover.
The Dover cliffs are being steadily eaten away every year. In 1860 thousands of tons of chalk fell from Shakespeare cliff, and three years previously there was a fall during which the conspirator's watchhouse at the summit was hurled into the waves.

GOING RAVER.

The Cranky Man Made Sure the Division Was Perfectly Equal.

"I once had a neighbor," said the retired merchant, "the oddest specimen of humanity I ever met. I had been warned that this man—blank I will call him—was unreasonable and cantankerous. I certainly found him eccentric, but I am easy to get along with, and we lived side by side nearly seven years without any serious trouble. We each had a few fruit-trees and a small vegetable garden.

"In the fall after I first moved there blank proposed that we buy a ladder together. It would help in fruit picking and be convenient for various other purposes. He could get a good second-hand thirty foot ladder for $5, and I agreed to pay half of it. The ladder proved to be a useful article, and we kept it on top of the pocket fence that separated our gardens, where either owner could get it without trouble.

"In the spring of my seventh year in the neighborhood blank moved and tried to sell me his share in the ladder. He wanted $2.50, which I thought excessive. For six years the ladder had been out of doors, and it was showing signs of wear and tear. I offered to give him $1.50 or to take that sum for my own interest; but no, he would have me use it for a ladder in the flat to which he was moving, and I must buy it at his price. I said it wasn't worth it. He grew angry, and so the matter rested.

"The ladders were to leave the lot of May. Two days before that date I had to go away on business, my wife went to visit her sister and we shut up the house for a week. When we returned the ladders were gone and I found in our letter box a curt note from him:

"As you would not come to terms about the ladder, I have settled the matter by dividing it equally. Have taken my half and left yours on the fence."

"Well, a thirty foot ladder is a little cumbersome, and, although a fifteen foot ladder is rather short, still I thought on the whole I should be satisfied with that solution of the difficulty. From the back doorway I looked over at my half of the ladder, as it lay on top of the fence and was surprised to see how long it seemed to be; certainly it was more than fifteen feet. I went out for a closer inspection and, much to my surprise, blank had fulfilled the neighbor's prediction and had 'divided out' in an unexpected spot. With some accuracy and an almost inconceivable display of malice, he had saved every round apart through the middle. He had divided that ladder longwise from top to bottom!"

"There is no road too long to the man who advances deliberately and without remorse. There are no honors too distant to the man who regards himself for the men who practice—La Bruyere.

Goethe.

Besides his five or six consummate works, which by universal consent are practically above criticism, it may be said that Goethe's songs are the best in the world. He is the greatest of all literary critics, and in subtle and abundant observation of human life and in the number and value of his wise remarks and pregnant sentences he is one of the greatest writers of all time. Goethe may be classed as one of the "greatest men."

Shampoo.

A mid-eighteenth century traveler, who is the first person known to have made English of the word "shampoo," wrote that "shampooing is an operation not known in Europe and is peculiar to the Chinese, which I had once the curiosity to go through and for which I paid but a trifle. However, had I not seen several Chinese merchants shampooed before me I should have been apprehensive of danger, even at the sight of all the different instruments." The original "shampoo" is the inventor's detailed account and other allusions for long after his time show, was very much what we call "massage" now. It was from India that the word really came, and it represents the imperative of a verb meaning to knead.

Green Animals a Puzzle.

What makes some animals green? If any reader knows and will tell he will settle a big dispute now going on among schoolboys who have vied to find out. Green colorations belong chiefly to insects, worms and reptiles. Whether they get their green line from the plants they eat or not is a question that has not been conclusively settled, although it has been shown that they will retain their color even when denied all green food.—Exchange

The flesh of young giraffe, especially that of a young cow, is extremely good, somewhat like veal, with a game-like flavor. The bones, from eighteen to twenty inches long, is also very good, as the marrow bone affords the greatest luxury to the South African hunter.
